Industrial applicability (IA)

There are no objections to the subject matter presented in Claim 1 with regard to novelty and inventive step (PCT Article 33(2) and (3)).

According to the preamble in Claim 1 the device for controlling oil burners with the characteristic feature specified in the claim does not appear to have been disclosed or suggested in any of the existing documents.

Dependent Claims 2-5 relate to developments of the device for controlling the flame of oil burners under Claim 1 and therefore also meet the requirements relating to novelty and inventive step.

The subject matter in Claim 6 relates to an automatic firing apparatus with a device for controlling the flame according to one or more of Claims 1-5 and therefore also meets the requirements regarding novelty and inventive step.

The subject matter in Claim 7 relates to a method for controlling the flame using a flame controlling device as per Claim 1 with features which correspond to the features
